

Dear Participants in CBGA2010 Conference,

I would like to introduce You our peer-reviewed journal, which is published by Dept. of Landscape Protection and Environmental Geography (University of Debrecen, Hungary), the Acta Geographica Debrecina Landscape & Environment Series. This journal is the continuation of the former Hungarian journal of the Institute of Geosciences. The thematic series had started in 2007 and now it is being edited the 4th volume, so it seems to be a viable initiative. We have authors and reviewers from several European countries, Now it is covered by Open J-Gate, JournalSeek, MATARKA (a Hungarian one) and Georef databases and the journal is under evaluation at Scopus, CABI and EBSCO. Our long term plan is the impact factor as it is possible.

I would like to ask You to help us to improve the chances of our effort. If You or your colleagues have a material to publish we would be grateful for sending us one. If You do not want to send a paper, please send this request to anyone who can be interested in. The other important thing is the knowledge of the journal.

All papers will be reviewed by 2 independent expert and will be published after the revision. Particularly research papers or reviews are requested.

The journal is online and printed as well and the articles can be reached with full text.

This is the web page where you can find some other details:

I hope You will like it and we will have a nice cooperation in the future! Please sign me, if You feel that you are interested in.
